REGULAR AND EXTRA EDITIONS TOMORROW; ALL DRAFT DAY NEWS

If You Want to Know if You are Drafted, Watch The Star-Bulletin.

Tomorrow is a "red-letter" day in the history of Hawaii. It is Draft Day. Beginning at 9 a. m. the drawing of the capsules, each containing a selective draft number that will call to Uncle Sam's service the man allotted the corresponding serial number, will begin at the executive building. Naturally every citizen will be eager to know whether he is called to the service. The Star-Bulletin will furnish its readers that information.

The first edition at 2:30 will contain all the names drawn up to 2 o'clock, the 3:30 edition all the names drawn up to 3 o'clock, and as the drawing probably will not be finished before 4:30 or 5 o'clock, the Star-Bulletin will issue a Draft Extra at 5 or 5:30 o'clock so that its readers may know who are called.

Not only will the Star-Bulletin publish the serial numbers drawn, but is in position to surmount the mechanical difficulties involved in the feat of publishing the names of the thousands of men drawn.

Owing to an eleventh-hour discovery of mistakes in registration in the Second District on the island of Hawaii, the district draft list has had to be reworked. As the Star-Bulletin did not receive the new list until late yesterday, it cannot today publish the revised list for the Second District of Hawaii but will publish the names of all those drafted in this district tomorrow. So the old numbers allotted the Second District should be discarded and the numbers that will appear in the Star-Bulletin tomorrow will be the ones that were drawn in the draft and the ones that will apply to the Second District, Hawaii.

DRAFT OFFICIALS AND GOVERNOR ARE READY FOR FIRST DRAWING AT 9 A. M.

COMPLETELY at the stroke of 9 tomorrow morning, Governor Pinkham will draw the first capsule in Hawaii's portion of the military draft. Every citizen has been notified of the time and place of the drawing. The drawing has been finished and today Major P. J. Green and his corps of assistants breathed easily. It has been a constant task of some three months' duration.

Governor Pinkham will not be blindfolded. He will be assisted by the Boy Scouts that have been selected for the drawing. The capsules themselves are enclosed in plain capsules. The number that will be drawn tomorrow will be the first man in each of the six districts to be summoned.

This will decide six men, of course, and it is expected that the drawing will be too large to draw all at once. Some of the capsules are as high as others. The second district on Hawaii, for example, has 55. If the serial number 2000 should be drawn, first it would not include men from that portion of Hawaii. The other half of 1500 were drawn and it would include all six of the districts.

A capsule will be used to stir up numbers, just previous to the drawing by the governor. After Governor Pinkham has drawn the first capsule he will be succeeded by the platform by Boy Scouts. Two boys will work at a time, one on each side of the big glass container which the capsules are to be placed. They will take out the capsules alternately.

As capsules are drawn from the container they will be handed to a clerk from the headquarters. A will take out the slip of paper which the number is written and add it to the reader who will call it in a distinct voice. Three clerks will take down the numbers. They are announced, putting them aside. After consecutive numbers are called to determine the order of draft summons.

It is expected that the day will proceed, with a complete change (Continued on page two)

The Ad Club decided to place the Mott-Smith scheme in the hands of the civic affairs committee for further investigation, while the road committee will get up a more definite report on the other two subjects. P. R. Isenberg, principal stockholder in the Honolulu Dairymen's Association. He said he believed the proposed increase to 9 cents a quart to the producer was fair and declared the association could not pay 9 cents without raising the price now paid by the consumer. About 34 dairymen are attending the commission meetings.

REPORT OF $6.90 SUGAR BRINGS JOY TO PLANTERS

At This Figure Hawaii's 1918 Crop Will Yield Biggest Revenue in Islands' History as it is .80 Cents Higher Than Year's High Average—Means Gross Income of Over $80,000,000

THE Associated Press report that the international sugar committee sitting in New York had agreed on a basic price of 6.90 cents per pound for sugar was hailed with deep-seated satisfaction by Hawaii sugar planters today. Should this price prevail during the war it will mean that based on an approximate output of the 1918 crop of 600,000 tons, Hawaii planters will receive in the neighborhood of $84,000,000, the highest total for any year's crop in the history of the island sugar business.

The news, however, came as a great surprise to A. M. Nowell, secretary of the Sugar Factors Company. In fact it is such a surprise that Secretary Nowell cannot bring himself to a full realization that it is true. Nevertheless he hopes so. But in the face of the official decision of the food administration a month ago that the maximum basis for refined F. O. B. Atlantic coasts was to be 7.25 cents, he declares he cannot see how the food commission has consented to such a radical increase in the price basis unless it be that the influence of the Cuban planters, who control the market, was so great as to force such a concession from the American board.

Persons in touch with the sugar industry have known for the past month that the Cuban planters were dissatisfied with the 7.25 maximum which had been set. They had asked for a concession a month ago that the maximum basis for refined F. O. B. Atlantic coasts was to be 7.25 cents, he declares he cannot see how the food commission has consented to such a radical increase in the price basis unless it be that the influence of the Cuban planters, who control the market, was so great as to force such a concession from the American board.

But strong pressure has been brought to bear by the Cuban planters for 6-cent sugar, and if the domestic price has been set at 6.90 it is a direct concession to the Cuban market of 1 cent a pound, which also grants the domestic producers a similar increase. In other words it grants the Cuban planters a price of 5.90 at Cuban ports.

On this basis the maximum for refined would advance to 8.20 cents, allowing a margin of 1.30 between raw and refined price, and it is almost certain that the refiners will insist on their 1.30 margin.

With 6.90 sugar Hawaiian planters will face one of the biggest years, if not the biggest year, in the point of gross revenue since the cane industry became associated with the islands as its leading industry. While the 1917 crop was estimated to be worth approximately $75,000,000, the 1918 crop, even with a slightly lesser tonnage due to drought, will exceed it by about $5,000,000.

Preliminary estimates compiled by Secretary Nowell indicate that the Sugar Factors' crop will be less than the 1917 output by 50,000 to 60,000 tons, bringing the total down to about 575,000 tons, as against 641,000 tons this year.

Motorman Fined $200 For Piling Up Autos Horse,

Heedless Driving of Street Cars to Be Stopped, is Ultimatum of Inspector Lillis

"UNLESS motormen can have their cars under complete control at all times, the trolleys should be taken off the public streets," declared City and County Prosecuting Attorney Charles Chillingworth in police court this morning. He was pleading for a stiff sentence in the case of Joseph Silva, Rapid Transit motorman, who was arrested by Chauffeur Inspector Bob Lillis for alleged heedless driving of a street car.

"The court sentences you to pay a fine of $200 and costs," said Judge Harry Irwin, after hearing the testimony of Mr. Lillis. This is the heaviest fine ever imposed on a defendant for heedless driving. Silva started his car at Alakea and King streets a week ago, piling up a Ford, a Stutz and a horse and buggy. "The street cars go so fast they endanger the lives of pedestrians and motorists," declared Lillis. "I am going to go after every car crew that thinks it has special right-of-way privileges on the city streets. A street car has no more right to exceed the speed limits than a motorist, but lots of motormen think they have."

Silver Crown and Lei Stolen From Casket of Monarch in Kawaiahao Church

Breaking into the royal vault in the churchyard of the old Kawaiahao church, late last night or at an early hour this morning, vandals stole the royal silver crown and a silver lei from the coffin of King Lunalilo, once ruler of the kingdom of Hawaii. The casket cover had been thrown back, but the casket itself had not been opened. Detectives are searching now for the ghouls who so flagrantly desecrated the tomb of the dead monarch. The casket of the king's father was untouched. Attendants inspecting the royal vault this afternoon discovered the crime. The door to the vault was open, and a dank, musty smell filled the darkened sepulchre. A black cover, draped over the coffin of the monarch, had been thrown back, revealing that the royal silver crown and lei had been stolen.

In addition to a bi-monthly tour of the islands whereby six concerts a year will be provided for outlying districts such as Ewa, Waiapahu and Koolauloa, Mr. Baker will be instructed to have his band play twice a week in Kalaheo, once a week in Kakaako, and also three Sundays a month in Kaplanani park, besides the regular weekly programs that have been given heretofore by the band, and any special concerts it may be called upon to provide.

Schools for each coast artillery officer will be established at each fort in the coast defenses of Oahu, beginning tomorrow and ending February 28, 1918. The course of instruction will include such subjects as ballistics, fortifications, service of the piece and nomenclature.

Ah Chong and Ah Yee were fined $25 each in police court today for having che-fa tickets in their possession. They paid their fines, but wanted their tickets back.

Circuit Judge Ashford announces that he will continue to try cases until the congressional party leaves for the other islands. He will accompany the party and, upon his return, will
